

CLUSTER 3 CONFLICT SUBSYSTEM: DEGODIYA Vs MURULE/GARE/KONTERIM

- Depending on the weather and climatic conditions, communities will converge at different locations so as to access pasture/water for the animals. As a result, such locations turn out to be conflict hotspots.

This situation escalates into secondary conflicts such as land and territorial claims, and rights and ownership over diminished resources by different ethnic groups.

Political stakes are raised leading to political conflicts during elections on either side of the border.

Because there are mixed communities living on the Kenya side the conflict epicenters are more intense on the Kenya side particularly around Neboi, Bulla Mpya and Mandera
